YALE GETS A SCOLDING.

BUTTERWORTH SAYS HARVARD SHOULD HAVE BEEN BEATEN.

THE TEAM REMAINS THE SAME, EXCEPT THAT CHADWICK IS LIKELY TO HAVE MARSHALL'S PLACE AGAIN-TICKETS FOR SATUR-DAY'S GAME ALL SOLD.

New-Haven, Conn., Nov. 16.-The Yale football team took its first hard practice since the Harvard game this afternoon. Before the opening of practice there was work on the signals and special practice for the ends. At 3 o'clock the gates were thrown open to the public, and 'Varsity and scrub ined up against each other as follows:

'Varsity.	Positions.	Polde
Marshall	Centre	Post
Cadwalader Brown	Right guard	MacFarland
Brown	Hight tackle	Hubbell
Hall	e Right City	Stoddard
De Saulies	Comprise the telegraph	Kiefer
Benjamin	Right halfback	Gilmore
Benjamin	(Durstor	and Shattuck)
McBride	Fullback

The Varsity, as it played to-day, is with possibly one exception the team that will line up against Princeton on Saturday. Chadwick, who played so well against Harvard, is more than likely to keep his place and enter the Princeton game at left guard, instead of Marshall. The latter has proven himself a first-class man, but Chadwick's work on Soldiers' Field entitles him to the place.

Dudley will take Corwin's place at left halfback.
Both men are good and nearly equal, but as Dudley was first choice he will go in first in the Princeton game. Corwin is a valuable understudy. The most encouraging feature of the practice to-day was the improvement behind the line, especially in interference.

coach, gathered the players of the Varsily eleven about him, first the backs and later the line men, and for ten minutes administered to each group a severe lecture. He took them to task for not winning the Harvard game, which, he said, could have been done, and ought to have been done, and closed with an urgent plea to win the Princeton game on Saturday.

The public sale of tickets for the Yale-Princeton game hegan at 9 o'clock this morning. The line began to form in front of Osborne Hall Pharmacy late last night. Nothing but $150 seats on the end stands were to be had, the distribution of tickets by application having disposed of every seat on the side stands and some of the best on the north and south stands. At 10 a. m. nearly every seat had been sold, and hundreds were unsupplied. Tickets are selling at a hig premium. The prices asked by speculators who have secured tickets are for side seats $5 and for ends seats $3.

The umpire will be Paul Dashiel, of Lehigh, and the referee ex-Captain William Langford, of Trinity.

HARVARD'S SQUAD GROWS LISTLESS. FORBES DECIDES TO TRY MILLS AS FULLBACK IN THE OFFENSIVE PLAYS.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 16 (Special).-The practice on Soldiers' Field this afternoon was far from encouraging. The men did not have Waters's threat-ening words to spur them on, and consequently they played the same listless game as usual. The 'Varsity succeeded in securing three touchdowns, but the work hardly merited them. Mills was tried again at work narray mentering and the Yale game that Harvard was sorely in need of a strong rusher behind the line. Haughton is clearly ineffective in such work, so Harvard's ingenious coach has con-such work, so Harvard's ingenious coach has contrived a scheme for using Mills on the offensive by shoving Haughton up in the line, and on the defensive changing them back to their old places. This is an experiment, and may not amount to anything. In the practice to-day Haughton received a hard blow on the head, which stretched him on the turf for five minutes. It is nothing serious, however. Dibblee was in the game again, and the rumor that he would be kept out of the Pennsylvania game on account of a cracked rib is denied. Captain Cabot is still on crutches, and is not expected to play in Saturday's game with the Quakers, Richardson will fill his place. Just who will play right half is the all-important question at present.

HARD WORK FOR THE TIGERS. THE PRINCETON ELEVEN SEVERELY DRILLED BY TWENTY-FIVE COACHES.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 16 (Special).-For two hours this afternoon the Princeton football men were put through the hardest practice of the year. Two long halves were played by the 'Varsity men, who were opposed by a strong scrub eleven. Balliet and John Poe again lined up with the second eleven.

In the first half the 'Varsity made two touch-downs on long end runs by Reiter and Bannard. In spite of the good ground-gaining of the backs, there was so much fumbling that the scrub team was able to make a good showing. The first secret practice was taken to-day when at the end of the first half, all spectators were requested to leave the grounds. The work in the first half was so ragged that the coaches decided to give the team a thorough shaking up in the second. There were fully twenty-five coaches on the field, and when the teams lined up for the last half none of the 'Varsity men escaped the vigilant eyes of their preceptors. The men were then put through a half-hour of the liveliest practice of the year.

At the close of the game Jack McMasters, the trainer, said the men had all stood the hard work well, and were in excellent condition. Reiter received a slight injury to one of his legs, but he will he out to-morrow. Booth and Craig did not line up to-day, both being somewhat bruised from the hard practice of yesterday. The guards, Edwards and Crowdis, played well. at the end of the first half, all spectators were re-

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (Special).-Pennsylvania's at practice to-day before the Harvard game was unsatisfactory and disappointing to the favored few who were allowed inside of Franklin Field. To place the responsibility for the slump in play would be difficult. The entire team seemed to fall into that listless state which has characterized their work too often in the last three weeks. In the offensive playing the runner was not assisted, and in the deensive work the men failed to give one another that support which is so essential in this year's style of playing. At the beginning of the practice the 'Varsity line was the same as it will be against

The feature of the 'Varsity's work was the splendid all-around play of Minds and the kicking of Moriee. The second half was fought even more hotly than the first. The ball was again and again forced down the field only to be lost on a fumble. After twenty-seven minutes of play, Kafka passed the ball to Van Winkle, who fumbled and dropped it. Wells picked it up and started for the goal, with the entire sophomore eleven after him. He easily outran them and, without assistance, scored the only touchdown of the game. Nash kicked the goal. The annual Oriental rug show, at Vantine's.

A MARVELOUS EXHIBIT. Decked in glorious folds of Antique rug beauty our fifth floor is a place, this week, to charm the soul of the Oriental rug lover.

The rarest, and most difficult-to-obtain rug specimens are here in prodigal profusion. They cover the floor, they hang from the walls, they are draped, with charming effect, about the supporting pillars. Some of them look like stretches of tine needlework. The silken folds of others gleam across the floor like glints of ever-changing sunshine. Still others charm us with the quaintness and beauty of their patterns and designs, while we are equally fascinated with the deep, rich, mellow colorings of others. The inscriptions in the Persian and Arabic languages worked into other specimens by hands long since dead and gone excite the interest of the scholar and antiquarian.

Imperial palaces of Pekin. Near by is another curious Chinese rug, 13 feet 3 inches in diameter, and perfectly round. A near neighbor to it is a magnificent Kurdestan of the Shah Abbas period of Persian history, and valued for its artistic pattern and rare color blendings. Not far away is a pile of silk Persian palace rugs, including a number of rare prayer rugs, any one of which would be a prize to the rug connoisseur. One of these prayer rugs is a wonderful combination of color and design with the art of the weaver. The ground work is a dark blue with column patterns on either side. Surrounding these are serpents and dragons, entwined in fantastic shapes. From the top hangs a candelabra of wondrously beautiful lamps.

HE SCOFFS AT STORIES ABOUT SHEEHAN'S

CALLERS ON MR. CROKER.

RETIREMENT-BROOKLYN PATRONAGE. Richard Croker visited his office at No. 111 Broadyesterday for the first time since election. He arrived there about 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and it wasn't long before word had spread around and a great number of callers came in. Mr. Croker looked as if his rest at Hot Springs had done him a world of good, and he was bright and cheerful One of the first to see him was Colonel Michael C. Murphy. He was accompanied by Congressmar Vehslage. The Colonel had a long talk with Mr Croker, and when he came out his face was wreathed in smiles. Politicians say he is pretty sure to get a fat appointment.

Mr. Croker was asked directly about the reports that a change might be made in the leadership of Tammany Hall, and that John C. Sheehan would probably retire. For a long time there have been reports, and they have found general credence, that Mr. Sheehan, who has been somewhat restive under Mr. Croker's orders, would be deposed and John F. Carroll would be placed in charge. "I pay no attention to such stories," said Mr. Croker "Every once in a while some one has a long tale to tell about internal dissensions in Tammany Hall but they never come to anything. It is simply afterelection gossip, and is not worthy of attention. Mr. Croker then referred to Brooklyn, and made a statement that will be pleasing to the followers of the McLaughlin organization over there. It has been said that ex-District-Attorney Ridgway was the determination of undermining McLaughlin and the building up of an organization that would work in close harmony with Tammany Hall. Mr. Crok-

Jacob A Cantor State Senator, and a warm personal friend of Mr. Croker, was another who saw the Tammany chieftain. He announced that a conference of the Democratic Senators and Assemblyment-elect will be held in this city some time next month to map out a policy for the coming session. Senator Cantor also says that this conference will decide who is to get the minority vote for Speaker. It is probable that it will be accorded to George M. TALK ABOUT APPOINTMENTS. HENRY D. HOTCHKISS MENTIONED FOR COR-PORATION COUNSEL.

Judge Van Wyck, the Mayor-elect, declined to make any statements yesterday as to his probable selections of men for appointment to office as heads were reports in plenty, of course, but Richard Cro who are supposed to be working over the slate would give no information. The secrecy as to the coming appointments probably will be maintained for several weeks yet.

Henry D. Hotchkiss, a well-known lawyer of this city, has been mentioned as a probable selection for the office of Corporation Counsel. The office is a most important one, as the Corporation Counsel will get $15,000 a year, and will have the selection of several assistants, with large salaries. He will interpret the law to all the other departments of the city government. De Lancey Nicoll, who had been mentioned for the office, said yesterday that under no circumstances that he could conceive possible would be accept the office if it were tendered to him, and he had no idea that it would be offered to him.

It was said yesterday that Assistant Corporation Counsel Theodore Connoly, who was in charge of the office in the absence of Mr. Scott last summer and is a Tammany man, had been the only candidate for the post of Corporation Counsel to make application for appointment.

Corporation Counsel Scott has raised the salaries of several of his assistants recently. He said yes-terday that it had been possible for him to give larger salaries to some of the assistants who had fairly earned such recognition in the last months of their service, because after the death of Assistant Corporation Counsel Dean the salary of an assist-ant was saved by failure to make another appoint-ment. The raise in salaries will not make a prece-dent, as each Corporation Counsel has to rearrange salaries according to his appropriation and the number of assistants.

Ex-Health Officer Jenkins, who is Mr. Croker's brother-in-law, has been mentioned as a candidate for Health Commissioner, and similar mention has been made of Dr. Cyrus Edson, who was Health Commissioner, and resigned about two years ago. As Dr. Jenkins lives on Staten Island and Dr. Edson lives in this city, it has been said that they both might be appointed members of the Health Board.

Board.

It was said yesterday that a petition, bearing many signatures, asking for the appointment of Thomas J. Brady to the office of Superintendent of Buildings, was to be presented to Judge Van Wyck soon. Brady was the Superintendent of Buildings who was appointed by Tammany influences; was removed from office in March. 1895, and was indicted in the following month on the charge of having accepted a plane as a bribe when he was in office.

FUNERAL FLOWERS AND WEDDING GIFTS. Funeral flowers and wedding gifts from friends of Alderman Charles Wines were being brought to the Alderman's home, at No. 140 East One-hundred-and-fifteenth-st., on Monday night. The mar-riage of Miss Margaret Wines to Julius H. Fox, which was to have taken place yesterday morning, and to which Alderman Wines and his wife had and to which Alderman Wines and his wife had sent out invitations, had been postponed owing to the sudden death on Saturday of Mr. Wines's youngest daughter, Mary G. Wines, who had been an invalid for some time. The members of the Board of Aldermen had ordered for the wedding a set of silverware, and many other friends at the City Hall had ordered gifts for the bride. These were delivered on Monday afternoon. At almost the same time a broken column of flowers, sent by the Aldermen, when they heard of the death of the younger Miss Wines, and floral tributes from other friends, began to arrive.

The funeral was held on Monday night, the Rev. Dr. Montgomery officiating, and Police Commissioner Mors, who had been Sunday-school superintendent where the girl attended, speaking. Grade Housefurnishing Goods

Appreciation Surely Creates Opportunity.

F revival of this business be a conquest of apparent impossibilities, as so many distinguished New Yorkers called to say yesterday, the praise belongs only in part to the irresistible might of never-ending endeavor. More largely it belongs to New-York's advanced business thinkers, whose advice and encouragement have surrounded us since we came with a cloud that shuts out every possibility but success.

They are good people who think you can do things! They help you to do them! Take that as a good rule always.

The inspiration of this business is not a periodical vertigo, but calculation based on principles—we are throwing a net over the whole world of merchandise, and drawing it in where you can watch the fishers, and see whether anything is caught that you want.

It is hard to imagine anything more interesting than the exquisite silk waists and skirts, many of them only a few days from Paris. Of course they can't be described; that's why it's absolutely necessary for you to come and see them. No two are alike. They are in plain, checked or fancy silks, some in exquisite brocades; and there are crepes, chiffons, plaid velvets, moire velvets, etc. The prevailing style is the blouse front; some also have blouse back; and laces, cream or black, are more lavishly used for trimming than ever. The trimmings also include ribbons, jet and velvet; one of the most beautiful effects is that of insertion over colored grounds.

One of the features of this collection is fine waists in black. They are lace, ribbon, or crepe-trimmed. Some suitable for mourn-

SALE OF ENTOMOLOGICAL SPECIMENS. A number of members of the New-York Entomological Society attended an auction sale of in-sects last night at No. 141 East Fortieth-st. Cases of beetles, butterfiles and bees were laid out on three tables. They were gathered in various parts of the country by merabers of the society. Dr. R. Ottolengui was the auctioneer. The proceeds of the sale go to "The Entomological Journal." The smallest insects were the rarest, and brought the
